Dr. R. M. Dyer, of Indianapolis, Ind., says: "I have prescribed Brown's Iron Bitters in cases of anemia and blood disease, also when a tonic was needed, and it has proved thoroughly satisfactory."

Mr. Wm. BYRNE, 26 St. Mary St., New Orleans, La., says: "Brown's Iron Bitters relieved me in a case of blood poisoning, and I heartily command it to those needing a blood purifier."

THE RAILROAD HORROR.

SCENES AROUND THE DISASTROUS WRECK NEAR TIFFIN.

Thousands of People Visiting the Fatal Spot—The Cause of the Terrible Loss of Life—A List of Killed and Wounded—Railroad Wrecks Elsewhere.

TIFFIN, O., Jan. 6.—The terrible Baltimore & Ohio wreck at Republic yesterday morning still continues to be the topic of conversation, and thousands of people have visited the scene of the catastrophe. A large gang of workmen have been busily employed since the disaster, and nearly every vestige of the wreck has disappeared. A few broken and burned timbers which are being silently covered by the snow alone remains. The dismantled engines and broken cars have all been removed, and the scene offers no satisfaction to the curious.

The charred remains of the unrecognized victims have all been gathered up and placed in coffins by the undertaker at Republic and will be kept as long as possible to aid friends in identifying them. The coroner will institute a searching investigation, and has been out all night picking up pieces of burned clothing, keys and other articles not entirely consumed by fire to aid him in his work.

The responsibility of the accident is placed upon the freight conductor, Fletcher, who, without orders, encroached upon the time of the express train, and the victims who are with the unnamed dead, the sorrowing widows and orphans, the maimed, and the large pecuniary loss, which has not yet been estimated, is the result of his criminal carelessness.

It seems that the freight, under charge of Conductor Fletcher, pulled out eastbound from Tiffin with orders to sidetrack at Scipio, to allow an express to pass. After the train had gone, the conductor, being without special orders, exercised his own judgment, and tried to make Republic, five miles distant, as he had thirty minutes to spare. The night was so cold that it was only with the greatest difficulty that steam could be kept in the boiler; indeed, it is said that the gauge showed only sixty pounds, and the train became "stalled" half a mile west of Republic, and came to a standstill. Here the conductor seems to have made a mistake in not sending out a flagman to stop the express until the freight had come to a dead stop. Some time after the conductor took up a red lantern and ran up the track to flag the express. He had gone only twenty car lengths when the train dashed into a gash at the rate of sixty-five miles an hour. The track was slippery and the train could not be stopped.

The list of killed, so far as known now, are as follows:

Express Agent W. S. Pierce, of Wheeling, W. Va.

Frank Irwin and J. M. Francis, linemen. Black Hand, O.

Fireman William Fredericks, of the express train.

C. P. Bradley, Washington, D. C., a prominent Knight of Labor.

Joseph Postlethwaite and two sons, of Martinsburg, W. Va.

M. H. Parker, of Washington, and M. H. Parks, address unknown.

Six other are missing.

An unknown Irish emigrant died after being removed from the wreck.

The list of injured are:

Engineer Eastman, of the express, leg broken.

Forrester, traveling agent from Chicago, scalp gashed.

Several of the killed and many of the wounded were carried away, and the full number of victims cannot be learned here.

Conductor Fletcher state that the engineer of the freight was drunk. His name is Kylar, and he is now at Chicago Junction.

Conductor Haskell, of the passenger train, was in the sleeper at the time of the accident, and ran forward in time to receive some papers from the dying men Ballard and Parks.

Ten of the killed are utterly unknown. An old gentleman named Ferguson, of Bloomfield, left Pittsburgh on the express, and has not since been heard from.

The Accident on the Boston & Albany.

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Jan. 6.—It is said that the break in the journal which caused the Mittenegue disaster, occurred four miles west of here, and that the road bed from that point to the scene of the accident shows marks of having been struck at intervals of five feet by some hard substance. The pecuniary loss to the road cannot yet be determined, but it is not short of $30,000, and may exceed $50,000. Most of the baggage of the passengers was burned, and the amount of their loss will not be known for some time. The persons who were injured will of course have claims, and the amount of these cannot be estimated.

Mrs. Jane M. Jenks and her daughter, Mrs. M. Chandler, of Troy, N. Y., were occupying the third seat from the stove when the accident occurred and were violently thrown to the floor. The stove was hurled upon them, pinning them down. Their clothing was not set on fire, but would have been in a short time. The shrieks of Mrs. Chandler soon brought assistance and they were pulled out bodily, but almost naked. In the endeavor to extricate them their clothes were torn from them in strips. Mrs. Jenks had her left hip badly injured, so badly that she will probably be lame for life. She was bruised all over the body and had an injury to the head. Mrs. Chandler had her left ankle nearly twisted off in the effort to pull her out of the wreck. Her head was also bruised. The women were taken into a neighboring house and put into bed.

A Freight Wreck in Illinois.

STREATOR, Ill., Jan. 6.—A freight train on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy branch of the road ran into a coal train yesterday morning, making a bad wreck. The engineer and fireman of the freight train jumped, and received severe injuries, and August Derk, who was standing between the cars, and the engine, was fatally crushed, dying soon after the accident. The accident was caused, it is charged, by the carelessness of the freight conductor.

One in Missouri.

SEALIA, Mo., Jan. 6.—A bad collision occurred on the Missouri Pacific road yesterday.

day, two miles east of Holden, where two freight trains came together with terrific force, completely wrecking the engine and piling freight cars along the track for a hundred yards. A fireman named Calhoun, whose home is at Warsaw, Benton county, received fatal injuries. The other train men escaped by jumping. A careless operator at Kansas City, it is alleged, is to blame for the costly smash-up.

TWO IN NEW YORK.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Jan. 6.—Westbound Erie express No. 13 collided with an engine carrying seven men at the yards here last night. Both engines and one express car were wrecked. Five railroad men seriously and one fatally injured. The track was blocked nine hours.

At Painted Post, near here, trains were also delayed by another wreck, in which a number of cars were burned.

SHERMAN'S SILENCE.

He Refuses to Be Interviewed on What Has Taken Place in Politics.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—A morning paper published a story to the effect that Mr. Blaine had written to Gen. W. T. Sherman in 1884, urging him to accept the Republican nomination to the presidency. Gen. Sherman, according to the story, wrote to Mr. Blaine, declining the honor, and stating that he could not accept the nomination under any circumstances. He further stated that if he was nominated against his will and elected, that he would refuse to serve.

Gen. Sherman was asked last night if there was any truth in the statements as published. He replied that he could not say anything about the matter. No one was authorized from him to say anything about the matter one way or the other.

If the letters in question were in existence it would be time enough, in his opinion, to give them to the public when either Mr. Blaine or himself had passed away. He was more interested in reading a California novel, which he had in his hand, than talking politics. "The newspapers gave the gossip of the day," the general added, "but events that lie beneath the surface are reserved for the future." No one is authorized to say that he ever received such a letter from Mr. Blaine."

WAR IN THE OIL FIELD.

Rival Companies Fighting for Possession of a Valuable Tract of Land.

FINDLAY, O., Jan. 6.—The most intense excitement has prevailed in this city and in the country west over a contest between the Trenton Rock Oil and Duke Oil companies over the Corner-Porter lease, which is in valuable oil territory. The Trenton company had the land leased first, but the owner claimed that their lease had lapsed, and let the Duke company have the tract. This company went forward, erected a derrick and nearly completed their well.

A few evenings ago the Trenton people tried to put timbers on the land, but a crowd of Duke guards pelted the timbers in a hundred directions. This morning, however, the Trenton company brought over a hundred men from Lima, and got their timbers, boilers, engines, etc., on the land during the temporary absence of the Duke guards.

An hour later a number of the latter made an attempt to regain the land, but without success. The entire day has been spent in parleying between the forces, and a hundred additional men have come from Lima to help guard the land. The most intense excitement prevails, and a row is expected.

Enforcing the Labor Law.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 6.—The law regulating the hours of labor for women and children in factories has not worked well so far in the cotton mills. The Lane & Maginnis mills, finding the operations of the law obstructive, discharged all the children in their employ, and posted notices this morning that they would in the future employ no persons under fourteen. A number of women came to-day with their children evidently under this age but swore that they were over fourteen in order to get them back to work. The mills have hitherto been working twelve hours a day, but the law compelled them to come down to a ten hour basis. A corresponding reduction followed, the hands getting the same wages per hour but having their weekly pay reduced 10 per cent. The engineers, most of the men and some of the women have struck but the mills are at work this morning. Notwithstanding this loss the Knights of Labor are seeing to the enforcement of the law.

A Mexican Outbreak Expected.

EL PASO, Tex., Jan. 6.—It is well known that large bodies of troops have been moved up and down the Mexican Central railroad recently. The latest movement of importance took place about two weeks ago, when some 2,000 soldiers were brought up to Chihuahua. The reason for this has been an enigma, but your correspondent now has it on good authority that an outbreak is feared in the western part of the state of Chihuahua. The population about Cusimnac is said to be ripe for rebellion and to be only ripe for an opportunity and a leader. Of course official denials of this alleged discontent will be forthcoming, but everybody knows how little these denials mean. It is the invariable rule of the Mexican authorities to stifle all reports of trouble as long as possible.

Wedding Belts at Fremont.

FREMONT, O., Jan. 6.—Last evening occurred the marriage of Miss Ada Cook, cousin of Mrs. ex-President R. B. Hayes, and Mr. R. W. Huntington, of Moss Point, Miss., at the Hayes mansion. Numerous guests were present, and the gifts were beautiful. The bride is a handsome lady, with dark hair and eyes, accomplished and amiable. The groom is a prepossessing young man, of slender, medium build, and smart as a steel-trap. The bride wore white French silk, en train, cut square at the throat, with pearl passementerie and diamonds. The couple will go first to Toledo, then to Columbus, where the Platt-Smith wedding occurs.

Investigating the Strikes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The court in special committee of the house on the Southwestern strikes, met and went over the testimony taken. Another meeting will be held at Chairman Curtin's residence on Tuesday next, when a unanimous report will likely be prepared.

Extending the Powers of Notaries.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Chairman Tucker, of the house committee on judiciary, has prepared a bill which he will introduce at the first opportunity, providing that notaries public may administer the oath to any National bank officer, agent, director, etc., etc.

The President Still Improving.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The president's condition continues to improve, and he has resumed his customary hours for the reception of visitors.

House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The house at 2 o'clock went into committee of the whole on the Indian appropriation bill.

MINNESOTA'S GOVERNORSHIP.

A State That is Blessed With Three Governors at One Time.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 6.—The official count of the last election in Minnesota gives McGill 32,000 plurality over Ames, for governor. Ames went before Judge Cooley, of the St. Paul municipal court, yesterday morning and took the oath of office as governor, as the first step in contesting the office. The Democratic state central committee does not endorse Ames' course.

Immediately after the official count was announced as completed, Mayor Ames, of Minneapolis, appeared at the executive chamber and was sworn in as governor by Judge Mitchell, of the supreme court. Shortly after Governor-elect McGill took the oath of office, but Governor Hubbell does not surrender his office until noon to-morrow. Hence the state is blessed with a tripartite head.

The action of Mayor Ames creates much gossip, and various views are taken of it. The case will come up before the supreme court on a quo warranto at once. Mayor Ames was seen this evening and said: "I was elected governor of Minnesota and can prove it to the satisfaction of everybody. Returns will be recounted from a dozen counties in the state, and a sufficient irregularity and fraud will be shown to wipe out McGill's apparent plurality of 2,600. I have no overweening desire to wield the sceptre of state, but I want to show the rottenness of the election machinery. When it is possible for 900 men to cast their ballots without even having their first papers, as was the case at Tower, St. Louis county, I want the matter put on record."

THE NOTED EXPRESS ROBBERS.

Wittrock, Weaver and Haight Go to Prison for the Great Robbery.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 6.—Fred Wittrock, alias Jim Cummings, William Haight, and Thomas Weaver, the celebrated trio who conceived and successfully carried out the famous Adams Express robbery on the Frisco road last October, last night were indicted by the grand jury and on their plea of guilty was at once sentenced by Judge Normile as follows: Wittrock and Haight to seven years each, and Weaver to five years at hard labor in the state prison at Jefferson City.

Judge Crisp felt warranted in making this statement because the pending bill had been absolutely approved by Judge Taurman, author of the Thurman act, and by ex-Senator McDonald, of Indiana, both of these gentlemen having been members of the senate judiciary committee which prepared the Thurman act.

Judge Crisp further said that possibly some members entertained various ideas as to the best means of extending and refunding at a lower rate of interest, but when the matter was considered in its special bearing of protecting the government, the pending measure was most complete. There were undoubtedly stock-jobbing speculators opposing the bill, but they cared nothing for the government. What they wanted was to wreck the Pacific road, and, by impairing government security, depreciate the stock.

Presidential Appointments.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The president sent to the senate the following nomination: Rhoden M. Call, to be the United States attorney for the Northern district of Florida; James Spencer, of Whitehall, N. Y., to be associate justice of the supreme court of the territory of Dakota. To be United States consul: Joseph L. Hance, of New York, at Turks Island; William S. Preston, of New York, at Verviers and Liege. James Curran, of Maryland, to be supervising inspector of steam vessels for the Third district. Also a long list of postmasters, among whom were the following: George B. Bibb, of Russellville, O.; Harry Ryordorff, at Ripley, O. Also a number of army promotions.

The Rights of Louisville, Ky.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—In response to a resolution the secretary of war has sent to the house a lengthy report from the chief of engineers, relative to the right of the city of Louisville, Ky., to drainage into the Louisville and Portland canal. In his letter of transmittal the secretary desires that the terms upon which the United States acquires the title to the canal impose any conditions, or vest in the city of Louisville any right or privilege of drainage into the canal.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Mr. Mitchell, of Pennsylvania, made a motion that a pension be granted to Mrs. Logan. Mr. Coke, of Texas, objected.

At 2 o'clock the interstate commerce bill was taken up.

Mr. Platt opposed the conference report and wanted it rejected, because it prohibited pooling. In other respects he was in favor of the compromise bill. He proceeded at length to explain the law on the subject of pooling.

Public Lands.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The secretary of the interior transferred to the house to-day a statement from the commissioner of the general land office, showing that 324 suspended entries of public lands have been adjudicated by the board of equitable adjudication during the last fiscal year.

Rivers and Harbors.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The river and harbor committee have decided to report in favor of appropriation of $12,000 for the improvement of Calumet river. Of this sum $4,500 is to be expended between The Forks and East Hammond, Ind. The Illinois river will receive $80,000.

Investigating the Strikes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The court in special committee of the house on the Southwestern strikes, met and went over the testimony taken. Another meeting will be held at Chairman Curtin's residence on Tuesday next, when a unanimous report will likely be prepared.

Extending the Powers of Notaries.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Chairman Tucker, of the house committee on judiciary, has prepared a bill which he will introduce at the first opportunity, providing that notaries public may administer the oath to any National bank officer, agent, director, etc., etc.

The President Still Improving.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The president's condition continues to improve, and he has resumed his customary hours for the reception of visitors.

House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The house at 2 o'clock went into committee of the whole on the Indian appropriation bill.

Cigar Shop at Urbana Burned.

URBANA, O., Jan. 6.—George T. Seibert's cigar factory and store in the Odd Fellow's building was destroyed by fire this morning. Seibert's loss is estimated at $4,000, partially insured. The building was damaged $500, insured. The postoffice in the same building escaped.

American Schooner Ashore.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Signal corps station at Ocean City, Md., reports American schooner Helena, New London, ashore twelve miles south of here, Capt. Brown, New York, for Norfolk, coal, crew six, all saved. Wreckers notified; no assistance needed.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 6.—United States Senator Swayer, who passed through here yesterday, says he believes that J. V. Farwell would be elected to succeed Senator Logan.

Toy Dealer Fails.

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Charles Kinsman, dealer in toys, has failed. His liabilities are placed at $40,000; stock on hand and other assets $60,000.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY.

ROSSER & McCARTHY,
Proprietors.

THURSDAY EVENING, JAN. 6, 1887.

THE reports from the winter wheat districts speak favorably of the growing crop.

J. M. KERR, who was burned out at Nicholasville, will start the Jessamine Journal again in a few weeks.

THE receipts of the "Big Four" railroad last month show an increase of more than $9,000 over those for the corresponding period in 1885.

THE growth of Omaha, Neb., has been something wonderful. In 1854, the first building was put up. Now the population is put down at 80,000.

C. P. HUNTINGTON and D. O. Mills, an "associate," each subscribed $1,000 to the fund for the relief of Mrs. Logan, which now amounts to $40,000.

CARLISLE passed through her first temperance Christmas without an arrest for drunkenness or a fight or fuss. Local option has done that much good.—Carlisle Mercury.

SOME people in New York think hanging either too good or not good enough for murderers, and want to kill them off with an electric machine hereafter. The matter will be presented to the Legislature.

FROM all over the State returns are coming in showing an enormous increase in the valuation of property under the new law of assessment for State taxes. The State will probably be freed of debt and the tax rate for next year considerably reduced.

CRAIG TOLLIVER and Cook Humphreys are both said to have violated their pledges and returned to Morehead, and the "reign of terror"—in the minds of the sensational newspaper correspondents—again prevails in that unfortunate section of our State.

OR the $10,000,000 of bonds called in by the Government last week, the First National Bank of Lexington held $400,000. The Drummer says: "It is a little tough on a bank to have to part with so many dollars worth of bonds at 'one sitting,' but Uncle Sam is no respecter of persons."

"JIM CUMMINGS" and his "pals" have pleaded guilty to robbing that express car, and are safely behind the bars of the penitentiary at Jefferson City, Mo. The two principals are in for seven years, and their assistant gets off with five years. Cummings played a big game, but lost. The express company handled the cards too well, and then, they were backed by their experience in somewhat similar games in the past.

THE complete success of the attempts to pipe natural gas some sixty miles to Buffalo has crystallized the long pending efforts for a similar scheme among Cleveland capitalists; and it is now claimed that the project is perfected, save some few gaps in the right of way. It is proposed to pipe from Jefferson County, sixty-five miles away, taking in Canton, Alliance, Massillon, Akron and Cuyahoga Falls en route, and finally supplying Cleveland. It is a tremendous scheme, if the gas only consents to keep up its supply at the other end.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

THE terrible collision of a B. and O. lightning express train with a stalled freight, at Tiffin, O., followed by the burning to death of a number of the unfortunate passengers, particulars of which appeared in our dispatches yesterday, rivals in its horrors the Ashtabula disaster of a few years ago. And it was all caused by one man's wilful disobedience of orders. An account of the burning of the imprisoned passengers is sickening in its awful details. The surest way of guarding against a repetition of such calamities is for the severest penalties of the law to be meted out at once to the man whose disobedience of orders caused the accident.

THE assessed value of property in Harrison County amounts to over $4,000,000. Writing from Falmouth, a party says: "The new revenue law, instead of being a bone of contention, is a blessing in disguise, and the people approve of the good work almost en masse. Heretofore the poor man paid the rich man's taxes, but now the rich man pays as much in proportion as the poor man, and the only persons who object to it are those who have been stealing taxes from the State, for lo! these many years; but it is a ground hog case now, and he must either give in his property correct or lie."

"The people here approve of it heartily, notwithstanding the news, of this city, characterizes it as an 'infernal law,' and all because he is compelled (it is supposed) to give in his wife's farm at its proper value and pay taxes on it."

What President Cleveland Has Done.

The New York Herald, in summing up what Mr. Cleveland has done, says:

"He has looked so carefully after the collection of the revenue that he has collected nearly sixteen millions more than in the previous year.

"He has looked so carefully after the expenditures that there are seventeen and three-quarter millions less than in the previous year.

"He has made the civil service of the Government so much more efficient than it was before that he has collected eleven and a half millions more customs revenue than was got in the previous year at a cost of collection of $490,608 less than it cost the year before.

"He has collected nearly four and a half millions internal revenue more than was got in the previous year, and at a cost for collection of $155,945 less than it cost to collect the year before.

"Quietly, without fuss, Mr. Cleveland has created an honest and efficient public service."

These are high words of commendation, but not less deserved than complimentary.

Railway Building in 1886.

The Railway Age says: The year 1886 will be notable as a period of remarkable activity in railway construction, exceeding, in the aggregate of new track added, all its predecessors, with the exception of two years—1881, when 9,796 miles were built, and 1882, in which no less than 11,568 miles were added. In the year just closing over eight thousand miles of new main line track have been built. Following after the depression in railway building which characterized the years 1884 and 1885—in the last only 3,331 miles having been added—the figures showing that eight thousand and more miles have been built in the year now ending are the more astonishing, and the total is far beyond the general expectation.

Agricultural.

It is reported that the tomato pack for 1886 reached a total of 2,314,460 cases of two dozen cans each, or a total of 55,470,400 cans. Great as the quantity is below the consumptive requirements of the country. It gives every family of five persons only five cans per annum. The average price of the year for reliable brands has been 97c to $1.05 per dozen, against 84c to 86c in 1885. The industry was never in a healthier condition than at the close of 1886. Old stocks have been distributed, and the visible supply is barely sufficient to meet the wants of the next six months without a marked advance in prices."

Agricultural.

Medium grades of butter are advancing steadily in the East, the positive defining of oleomargarine being generally accepted as the cause.

It is noted that imitation butter is retailing at lower prices than before the new law went into effect, for the very simple reason that it is being sold for what it is."

No other farm product commands as wide a range of prices in market as butter, and in nothing else is its relative position in market more completely in the hands of the manufacturer.

Among the first crops which can be put out on the opening of spring are early peas. Sown four inches deep, as they should be, a pretty sharp freeze after planting will do them no harm.

It is said to be a well-known fact that grape culture in America received severe setback on account of degeneracy produced by long-continued soft-wood propagation, and florists are now pursuing the same fatal course with the rose."

Vegetables Better Than Drugs.

Tomatoes act upon the liver.

Beets and turnips are excellent appetizers.

Spinach has a direct effect upon complaints of the kidneys.

Lettuce and cucumbers are cooling in their effects upon the system.

The common dandelion, used as greens, is excellent for the same trouble.

Asparagus purges the blood. Celery acts admirably upon the nervous system, and is a cure for rheumatism and neuralgia.

Red onions are an excellent diuretic, and the white ones are recommended to be eaten raw as a remedy for insomnia. They are a tonic and nutritive.

Onions, garlic, leeks, olives and shallots, all of which are similar, possess medicinal virtues of a marked character, stimulating the circulatory system, and in the consequent increase of the saliva and the gastric juice promoting digestion.

A friend at court—a sweetheart.

The greatest curiosity in the world—a woman's.

The proper length of a lady's skirt—a little above two feet.

Brace Up.

You are feeling depressed, your appetite is poor, you are bothered with headache, you are fidgety, nervous and generally out of sorts, and want to brace up. Brace up, but not with stimulants, spring medicines, or bitters, which have for their basis very cheap, bad whisky, and which stimulate you for an hour, and then leave you in worse condition than before. What you want is an alternative that will purify your blood, start healthy action of liver and kidneys, restore your vitality, and give renewed health and strength. Such a medicine you will find in Electric Bitters, and only 50 cents a bottle at the drug stores of J. C. Pecor & Co., and S. P. Campbell & Co., of Aberdeen Ohio.

THE RUSH OF THE BREAKERS.

The Life Saving Boat Coming in on a Great Roller—A Matter of "Duty."

It was 2 o'clock on a summer's morning when all the guests of the hotels at Beach Haven heard the boom of a gun aboard a ship in distress, and ten minutes later 200 people were on the beach. The wind blew a howling gale and a great bank of impenetrable darkness hid everything seaward beyond the first line of breakers. Three times the solemn boom of the signal gun floated to our ears on the piping gale, and then came a silence which even the mad rush of the breakers did not seem to break. Every ear was bent seaward—every listener felt that the doom of the craft which had made that hostile shore in that storm was sealed. There was nothing for 1,000 miles to break the sweep of the gale and the rush of the sea.

"Hark!"

A hundred voices shouted the word together. It was the rub of oars in their locks, and next moment the life saving boat, whose station was a mile below us, hung far above our heads on a great sea—sank out of sight in a way to make every heart chill—heaved into view again, and then came rushing at the sloping beach of sand with the froth so deep around her, and the spume and spray flying over her in such a cloud that we only saw the dark bodies above her gunwales. She rushed to our feet on a great roller, half a dozen men sprang out and pulled her out of reach of the next, and then eight wet and limp and frightened men were helped out and given restoratives.

"What was it?" asked some one of the life-guard captain.

"An Austrian bark on the bar."

"And how many were lost?"

"Seven."

In a quarter of an hour all were gone; and it would have seemed a dream had not the waves for three miles up and down been flinging spars and planks and beams and boards on the beach as indisputable evidence of a sea tragedy. Every man of the life saving crew had taken his life in his hands as he met that shrieking gale and those mad waves, but not a man boasted—there was not even exultation in their demeanor. The next wreck might take every life. That was a chance to be run. Rescuers and rescued melted out of our sight like so many specters, and we saw them no more.—Detroit Free Press.

The Llamas of Bolivia.

On leaving Tupiza we passed the first llamas, driven by Indians. The llamas are very useful and rather pretty animals. When full grown they are the size of stags, and are very gentle and tame. They have beautiful liquid eyes and are impressive. Through the highlands of Bolivia and Peru they are much used for packing merchandise. They carry about eighty pounds. Their wool is also used. They travel very slowly, about twenty miles a day, and can only be managed by kindness. When tired out or abused they lie down and nothing can make them get up. Each herd has always a leader, which, with a bell around his neck, forms a rallying point for the rest. Generally the Indians ornament them by passing strings of red wool through the tips of their ears, pierced for the purpose, and with collars of like material. They walk with their heads slightly thrown back.

Whether out of policy or through a fellowship of patience I cannot say, but the Quiches treat the llamas very kindly. Generally a girl walks ahead of the troop as a guide, and the animals follow without being driven. When they hear or see anything unusual they stop, throwing their heads forward to watch. In the evening, when the troop reaches its resting place, they are gathered close together and a rope stretched around the whole herd. They are then unloaded and let loose.—Bolivia Cor. San Francisco Chronicle.

A Mysterious Death.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Jan. 6.—Yesterday an entrance was forced to John Grigg's house at New Carlisle, and Grigg was found dead on the floor, frozen stiff, with a half-filled chloroform bottle by his side. About his neck was a bedcord, to which was attached a heavy weight. One queer fact in the case is that the man's hands were tied. The case is supposed to be one of suicide, but the latter fact points to foul play. He had been missing for some time before the discovery, was forty-three years old, and had at one time been insane.

DUBLIN, Jan. 6.—The Woodford prisoners recently convicted of assaulting bailiffs while the latter were attempting to evict tenants, were to-day sentenced to terms of imprisonment varying from twelve to eighteen months. The prisoners' counsel at the trial threw up their briefs, because the judge refused to permit Catholics to serve on the jury.
